

The Drexel LeBow

Executive MBA

Developing Business Leaders

Drexel LeBow's comprehensive Executive MBA delivers a mastery of the core business disciplines with special emphasis on leadership development — exclusively for experienced professionals.

Experiential Learning

Renowned for its forward-looking and innovative culture, Drexel LeBow will become your business lab. The EMBA plan of study and co-curricular learning modules are continuously updated for relevancy and pioneering approaches in management. The teaching methodology encourages you to challenge and test theories in class and in your professional life.

Opportunities for experiential learning and global perspectives are woven into your time spent at LeBow, culminating with a 10-day international residency where you will examine global management practices and culture firsthand.

Leadership Specialization

With coursework developed by the Drexel LeBow Institute for Strategic Leadership, EMBA students earn a specialization in leadership. Coursework on leadership combined with individual assessments, team-building exercises and executive coaching focus on developing a blend of knowledge and leadership that will change the way you are perceived in your organization.

Unrivaled Faculty, Design and Support

Tailored for experienced professionals with busy schedules, the 20-month program and class schedule is structured to optimize program pace, learning and crucial face-to-face interaction with faculty and other EMBA students.

Professors are selected to teach EMBA students for their high qualifications, strength in instructing adult professionals and for their ability to advise students in the application of classroom concepts to their professional lives.

Staff dedicated to EMBA will guide you through each module, providing all instructional materials, study spaces, meals and tech support so you can concentrate on learning.

Executive Environment

EMBA students have an average of 15 years of experience across a diverse range of industries and professions. Cohorts are comprised of talented, motivated professionals with a wide range of backgrounds. This creates a rich, dynamic and collaborative learning environment, fostering creativity and innovative thinking.
