BA in Economics at Drexel University

TOP CO-OP EMPLOYERS

Susquehanna Growth Equity
Ariva
IKEA Group
Glenmede
LEAF Capital

MEDIAN CO-OP HOURLY PAY

$17

Median co-op hourly pay for BA in Economics students

AVERAGE STARTING SALARY

$89,364

Average starting salary, School of Economics' Class of 2024

Drexel University's Bachelor of Arts in Economics, housed in the School of Economics at the LeBow College of Business, emphasizes the development and interpretation of economics through critical reasoning, discussion and engagement with related social sciences. Explore how economic models are used to analyze issues in areas such as public policy, industrial development, law and human welfare, with attention on institutional and social context. With extensive free electives, you can shape your studies around your interests.

Coursework Examples

- Game Theory and Applications
- Macroeconomics
- Microeconomics
- Public Finance
- Economics Seminar
- Using Big Data to Solve Economic and Social Problems

Career Outlook

A BA in Economics will prepare you to analyze complex problems, evaluate policy and make informed decisions across a wide range of industries. You'll gain the analytical and communication skills needed for careers in consulting, finance, government, urban and industrial development, and more.

More Ways to Study Economics

- BS in Behavioral Economics, Business and Organizations
- BS in Economics and Business
- BS in Economics and Data Science
- BS in Economics and Mathematics
- BS in Economics
- BA in Philosophy, Politics and Economics
- Minor in Economics
- Minor in Behavioral Economics and Business

Learn more about this program by scanning the QR code or visiting lebow.drexel.edu/academics/undergraduate Version no. 261026-01

LEBOW.DREXEL.EDU

Caitlin Brady, Director, Undergraduate Programs & Recruitment
215.571.3570 | cem398@drexel.edu

DREXEL UNIVERSITY
LeBow College of Business